Jud. Bldg. discuss firing range status
Delay decision until Standards are set by Fed. Bureau of Standards

The Board met with architects Jim Williams and Richard Peters of Peters, Williams & Kubota, and Ray Perkins, who was a consultant on the judicial and law enforcement building, to discuss the status of the firing range. Mr. Perkins having reviewed the suggestions for development of the firing range as promulgated by NIOSH made three recommendations to this Board with costs ranging from $24,000 to $48,000 necessary to bring about the revisions required to bring this range into conformance with the suggested standards. It was pointed out that definitive standards for firing ranges are being developed by the Federal Bureau of Standards. After full discussion it was agreed by the Board to delay any plans for revisions of the firing range until such time that definitive standards can be developed and that correspondence would be directed to the Federal Bureau of Standards describing our situation and promoting the establishment of reasonable standards for these types of facilities.

No further business, the Board adjourned to meet on Monday, November 21, 1977.
