Disc. Bank
rotation with area bank reps.

The Board met with representatives of the six Douglas County banks to discuss the rotation of the county's checking account. After discussion it was agreed that the rotation of the active funds would continue in the order as established by a drawing six years ago. The Board then discussed the problem of transportation to the two out-of-town banks, in Eudora and Baldwin. The bankers told the Board an alternative solution might be to keep the active funds in Lawrence banks with an equitable amount deposited in savings accounts with the Eudora and Baldwin banks. That money could be transferred by wire. Lynn Anderson, president of First National Bank and spokesman for the group, said the bank officers would meet again to try and determine a fair system of deposits.

No further business, the Board adjourned to meet on Wednesday, March 3, 1982.
